

INTERACTIONS WITH CHILDREN

POLICY DOCUMENT

Our Lady of Hope Greenwith Campus
Outside School Hours Care

Reflexive practice is another principle underpinning the school age care framework. It is central to sustaining high quality programs and interactions with children, bringing theory and practice together. This enables learning from experiences and to adapt and develop practices in the light of new understandings. Learning together with children and colleagues draws upon the diverse knowledge, experiences, views, and attitudes of individuals within the group. Being reflexive means being open to change and examining current beliefs, attitudes and knowledge while constantly looking for ways to improve. Services implement reflective practice by providing time for educators to examine aspects of service delivery: firstly, how it is done then, questioning why it is done this way. This examination allows educators to reflect on current theory as well as attitudes and beliefs, which may influence their views. Inquiry may increase levels of cultural appropriateness and reveal practices that may impact on children's well-being.

My Time, Our Place contains broad principles that support practice and reflect contemporary theories and research regarding children's play, leisure, and learning. The principles of secure, responsive, and reciprocal relationships, partnerships, high expectations, equity and respect for diversity should guide interactions with children. Educators who are attuned to children's thoughts and feelings support the development of a strong sense of well-being and social competencies (My Time, Our Place, p10). Educators who strive to build strong connections with children contribute to their sense of belonging, fairness, and self-esteem. Partnerships are based on effective communication which builds the foundations of understanding each other's expectations and attitudes and builds on the strength of each other's knowledge (ibid). Important qualities for educators when building relationships with children include fairness, integrity, authenticity, humour, sympathy, understanding and open communication. The practices and outcomes identified in My Time; Our Place will guide educators in their interactions with children.

RELATIONSHIP

The Our Lady of Hope Greenwith Campuses OSHC service uses the My Time, Our Place Framework for School Age Care in Australia to underpin the operational development of the service and ensure that the needs of each child are addressed. Our philosophy states the service's purpose and direction underpins all policies and procedures. The ethos of our service is to value each of our OSHC educators and enable them to access professional development and training. This informs them of the latest research findings that will guide and empower them to effectively support and nurture children. This will enable us to uphold our mission statement, growing through meaningful interactions.

POLICY STATEMENT

The implementation of the National Quality Framework sees the introduction of a learning framework—My Place—for school age children in education and care settings. This framework recognizes the valuable role OSCH services play in the lives of children and families. My Place sets a vision for children's learning through play and leisure, in contrast to the framework, which focuses on classroom settings.

BACKGROUND

INTERACTIONS WITH CHILDREN

- How the policy will be implemented:
- Our OSHC service is committed to providing an environment with activities and experiences that encourage all children to learn, extend their skills and have fun. The service will offer care for children from diverse cultural, linguistic, and economic backgrounds and structures the needs of all children in our care. The service will actively promote the positive aspects of diversity development, physical, and intellectual abilities. The program will be developed to accommodate different needs of all children without bias, prejudice, or reference to stereotyping, and will encourage the children to reciprocate these ideals.
- The individuality of all children and staff will be respected.
- The service is respectful of staff, children, and families of all backgrounds, and structures the program to assist these individuals wherever possible.
- Programming will be inclusive of every individual's cultural needs and differences as much as possible; diversity will be celebrated. This assists children in understanding and appreciating cultural diversity.
- Children with disabilities and additional needs will be included in the service once appropriate levels of support to facilitate effective inclusion are available. This may include some physical facilities, specialized staff training, and additional staff.
- A positive relationship is formed with all families of children with additional needs to learn more about their child/ren, his/her requirements and the expectations of the family.
- Staff will help children to show understanding, acceptance, and respect for individual differences by modelling appropriate behaviour and using opportunities such as informal discussions during play to address issues of fairness and justice.
- Staff will encourage children to communicate with each other respectfully and to be fair to one another.
- The service will program equitably for everyone and, where possible, offer opportunities for activities to be done individually or collaboratively, providing the children with choice within the service.
- The service identifies and encourages children's differing special qualities and ensures that programming enables each child to succeed.
- Resources will be monitored within the service to ensure that there is no evidence of stereotyping, bias, and discrimination.
- To ensure that all children are receiving optimal care within the service, staff will participate in professional development and training and have ready access to reference materials within the service.

INCLUSION POLICY

The underlying principles of the Child Protection Act 1999, section 5, clearly emphasise participation by children and young people, respect for their rights, consideration of their views and, where possible, involvement in decision-making processes affecting their lives.

- Are involved in decision-making processes
  - Have their views valued and documented
  - Are supported to express their views
  - Are actively listened to
- Young people:

Participation is an ongoing process of engagement and involvement through which children and

Each week children who display positive behaviour will be rewarded with a raffle ticket. At the end of the week a ticket will be drawn, and this child will be rewarded with a certificate and will be able to select a reward from the rewards chart. This child will also get their photo taken with their certificate and their photo displayed in the activities room. This reward system is aimed to encourage the continuation of positive behaviour showing our gratitude and reflecting our values to those who continue to go above and beyond at OSCH.

Reward system: Educators will promote the school values of Respect, Resilience, Relationships and Responsibility by role modelling positive behaviour. Children will consistently be reminded of these values which will be displayed around OSCH to assist in developing children's appropriate behaviour skills. This will include positive recognition of desirable behaviour as outlined. Educators will acknowledge positive behaviours with language/responses, stickers, first person to have a turn etc.

Reward system:

- We respect and care for ourselves, other people and our environment.
  - We work safely and cooperatively.
  - We follow the directions of educators.
  - We stay inside the supervised boundaries.

The behavioural expectations are as follows:

- We believe that to effectively guide children's behaviour we need to:
    - Include children in order to maintain their self-esteem, dignity and personal integrity.
    - Encourage behaviour that children can learn from their mistakes.
    - Be fair and consistent
    - Place focus on the behaviour and not the child when guiding behaviour
    - Recognise that a child's behaviour is affected by a multitude of factors, including age,
    - Physical environment, time of day, staff and other children's actions, family experiences and cultural background
    - Work together with families and educators to build positive relationships
    - Provide a wide and varied program
    - Seek input from families and children when reviewing behaviour management policy, to encourage ownership and acceptance.

We believe that to effectively guide children's behaviour we need to:

Our OSCH service is committed to meeting the needs of the children in care in a way that fosters a positive and nurturing environment. The safety of all children and educators is a priority. Children and educators are to be treated respectfully. Our behavior expectations align with our values joint with Our Lady of Hope School which are Respect, Resilience, Relationships and Responsibility.

Using this language, the children will be empowered to be in control of their own behaviour / choices whilst learning that educators are there to help them and support them.

Our intention is to assist the children at OSCH to develop and learn. We believe that our behaviour guidance consequences are designed to educate the children and support them to make better choices. The following process will be introduced when expectations are not being followed:

1 - A warning is given to the child about their behaviour and a conversation with an educator is given to the child to provide opportunity to review their own behaviour.

2 - A formal reminder is given to the child about their behaviour.

3 - A RETHINK will be given to the child and will be discussed with families upon collection. Parent/carer to sign.

Rethink Process:

A rethink is an opportunity for a child to reflect on their actions and how their actions have affected others. The aim of a rethink is to help the child to reflect, learn and develop. Parents are informed of all rethinks and urged to discuss and support their child in making appropriate choices moving forward. In the event a child rethinks four rethinks in a term parents will be notified and will attend a meeting/discussion about their child's behaviour and put in place strategies on potential ways this behaviour can be minimised. At the beginning of each term every child has a fresh start.

A suspension can be given by the director for any extreme unsafe/violent behaviour directed towards children or staff without adhering to the rethink process.

If after repeated conversations with families it becomes apparent that the family is not willing to work in partnership with the OSCH Service, or the child is unable to successfully attend the OSCH service with compromising the safety and welfare of staff and other children, then expulsion may occur. Expulsion is a last resort and will only be considered after all other reasonable options have been considered. The decision to expel a child from the program will need to be made in consultation with and approved by the Principal.

In addition to the process directly involving the children/families educators will ensure notes regarding behaviour instances are made in the behaviour book. These records will then be moved to the child's blue folder.

- MANAGING CONFLICT THROUGH MEDIATION POLICY AND PROCEDURES
- What is mediation?
- Mediators help people in a conflict to work together to resolve the dispute. This principle acknowledges that children in conflicts (disputants) have the wisdom within them to resolve their own disputes. The mediator guides and helps this to happen.
- Mediators promote constructive communication, help disputants take responsibility for their own actions, clarify their needs and feelings and focus on mutual needs and interests.
- The OSHC service recognises that the service will run most effectively when there is minimal conflict and that any conflict is resolved quickly. We recognise that mediation is an effective tool in achieving this and it is actively promoted within the service.
- Staff are expected to use the mediation process with children's disputes.
- Why mediation?
- Impartial listener and facilitator to help people in conflict come to an agreement.
  - Mediation is a fair way to resolve conflict. A mediator does not take sides but serves as an impartial listener, which involves:
    - 1. Putting yourself in the other person's place to understand what the person is saying and how she/he feels.
    - 2. Showing understanding and interest by your tone of voice and body language.
    - 3. Do not:
      - eye contact
      - gestures
      - facial expression
      - offer advice
      - interrupt
- What is mediation?
- In order for mediation to effectively resolve conflict, the mediator needs to be an active listener, which involves:
    - 1. Putting yourself in the other person's place to understand what the person is saying and how she/he feels.
    - 2. Showing understanding and interest by your tone of voice and body language.
    - 3. Do not:
      - eye contact
      - gestures
      - facial expression
      - offer advice
      - interrupt
- How does mediation work?
- Mediation focuses on problem solving rather than on blaming, punishment or revenge.
  - Mediation enables the child to own and accept his/her behaviour and the consequences of his/her actions.
  - Because the child has been involved in resolving the conflict through the mediation process, mediation enables the child to own and accept his/her behaviour and the consequences of his/her actions.
  - In order for mediation to effectively resolve conflict, the mediator needs to be an active listener, which involves:
    - 1. Putting yourself in the other person's place to understand what the person is saying and how she/he feels.
    - 2. Showing understanding and interest by your tone of voice and body language.
    - 3. Do not:
      - eye contact
      - gestures
      - facial expression
      - offer advice
      - interrupt
- What are the steps in mediation?
- If the problem is to be solved, the mediator and disputants must agree on the following points:
    - 1. One person speaks at a time, no interrupting.
    - 2. Everyone listens to each other.
    - 3. Everyone is honest.
    - 4. No put downs, should be expressed.
    - 5. Ask questions to clarify what is being said.
    - 6. Repeat in your own words what you think the person means.
- Rules for mediation to occur
- The mediator will be fair and not take sides.
  - Everyone agrees on the following steps:
    1. Decide who will talk first, then ask:
    2. What is the problem?

- What if one person won't agree to mediate?
- Staff member asks what will happen/are the consequences if the problem is not sorted out.
    - Then ask if that is what the disputant wants to happen.
    - Then it will help to mediate.
    - Yes Then I can't help you now. If you change your mind I will help you.
    - This disputant then suffers the consequence.)
    - The person who did want help needs to carry on until such time that the other disputant is willing to enter into mediation.

- Handling difficult situations
1. What are the likely problems?
    - Is there a lack of willingness to solve the problem?
    - Are they telling the truth?
    - Review rules and agreements (ie the importance of honesty).
    - Separate disputants and talk to them individually, and then try to solve the problem all together.
    - Allow disputants a cool-off period until they are willing to participate.
  2. Strategies to counter difficulties
    - Is there an inability to explain the situation due to low self-esteem, powerlessness or unequal power?
    - Separate disputants and talk to them individually, and then try to solve the problem all together.
    - Review rules and agreements (ie the importance of honesty).
    - Staff member asks what will happen/are the consequences if the problem is not sorted out.
      - Then ask if that is what the disputant wants to happen.
      - Then it will help to mediate.
      - Yes Then I can't help you now. If you change your mind I will help you.
      - This disputant then suffers the consequence.)
      - The person who did want help needs to carry on until such time that the other disputant is willing to enter into mediation.

- Strategies for resolving conflicts
1. Take turns
    - There may be more than one problem.
    - Work with suggestions until disputants develop one they are both happy with.
    - Check that both disputants are happy with the plan.
    - How can you avoid the problem happening again?
    - In closing, tell the disputants the problem is solved.
  2. How do you feel?
    - Make sure all problems are solved.

HARASSMENT CAN OCCUR

- Making comments about someone's sexuality
- Making suggestive comments of a sexual nature
- Telling jokes or showing reading material/pictures that are offensive
- Writing and/or distributing rude/unpleasant notes about someone
- Unwelcome staring, whistling, gesturing or making comments about someone's body, looks or clothes
- Inappropriate touching or brushing against someone
- Telling jokes or showing offensive material that is degrading to a person of a different racial background
- Calling a person names or saying unpleasant things because of their culture, background or language
- Deliberately excluding others because of their race
- Sexually:

- Threats
- Picking on others
- Fighting, pushing, shoving, gestures

Some examples are:

Harassment is any repeated action, which threatens, hurts, frightens, embarrasses or humiliates a person.

WHAT IS HARASSMENT?

Our OSHC service is a place of belonging where each person has the right, to feel safe and secure at all times and the responsibility to make it happen, and so we seek to live justly, through our mutual respect for each other.

HARASSMENT POLICY

Stages may be skipped for cases of serious harassment.

- Talk openly about problem
- Go to the Director with staff or parent, or both
- Allow the Director to take suitable action to control the problem, or to refer the matter to outside authorities.

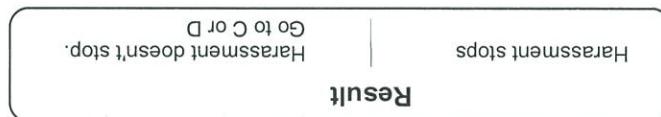

D

- Staff to take appropriate action to include:
- Talk openly about the problem
- Interviewing all children named by the victim
- All children interviewed individually
- Follow up action depending on results of interviews
- If further action needed to be referred to the Director

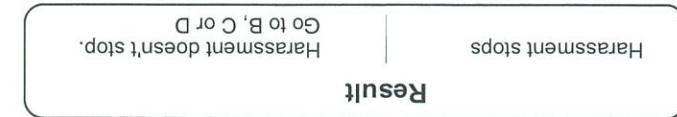

Go to your parent, staff member or any adult you can trust for help.

C

Ask the person who is harassing you to stop. Tell him/her how his/her actions make you feel. If this is difficult for you to do, ask one of the staff to help you.

B

Ignore it.
